

PDD 2011

Professional Development Day

We're excited to host our annual PMI® Professional Development Day on Thursday, June 9th 2011. Our theme this year is "Be The Change!"

Of course, we all know too well the excitement, or annoyance, of rapidly adjusting to the speed of projects and frantically catching up with the speed of life. However, as project managers in this great state, we are also poised to proactively touch almost every major effort occurring in business, construction, health care, energy, and manufacturing in Utah and the surrounding area. What a great opportunity to create positive change! One of my favorite quotes comes from General Eric Shinseki of the US Army, "If you don't like change, you're going to like irrelevance even less." We've taken this caution to heart and tried to respond rapidly to the critical needs of our members to help them keep up the pace.

Come join us for this exciting event. Early bird registration closes and regular registration begins on April 28th. Register now to get the best possible pricing available. To get more information about sessions, speakers, and to register, please go to our website at <http://www.projectmanager.org/pdd2011.html>
